- c) To be responsible for the design and delivery of own modules and assessment methods.
- d) To collaborate with colleagues on the implementation of assessment procedures and to review student progress and retention.
- e) To tackle issues affecting the quality of delivery within scope of own level of responsibility, referring more serious matters to others, as appropriate.
- f) To develop and sustain a subject contribution of relevance and high quality to postgraduate and undergraduate programmes, including:
 - Assisting in the design and delivery of the curriculum.
 - Achieving a reputation for excellence in the teaching of the subject.

5. Quality assurance and enhancement

- a) To be committed to and play a significant part in the total quality management of the subject area.
- b) To participate in assessment and evaluation of curriculum design and the quality of learning and teaching provided by subject staff.
- c) To make contributions of appropriate quality to awards being prepared for review and/or validation.
- d) To ensure adherence to, and effective operation of quality assurance and enhancement policies and processes.

General duties and responsibilities

1. To perform to high professional standards.
2. To manage independently any errors or concerns at the earliest opportunity, or notify a senior member of staff as appropriate.
3. To use initiative in order to determine priorities, work with autonomy, and work effectively with senior colleagues.
4. To be responsible for your own continuing self-development.
5. To undertake other duties not specifically stated above, which from time to time are necessary for the effective performance of the University's business without altering the nature or level of responsibility involved.
6. To work within and actively support the equality and diversity policies and practices of Falmouth University.
7. To participate in the University's Annual Performance Development Review Process.

Health and safety at Falmouth University

The University takes health and safety matters very seriously. All staff have a responsibility to take reasonable care for the health and safety of themselves and others who may be affected by their actions and omissions. They also have a duty to comply with the University arrangements for health and safety. Staff with responsibility for others must ensure the proper enactment of University policy within their areas in line with levels of responsibility set out in the University's Health and Safety Policy.

Health & safety requirements

- In relation to health and safety you must comply with all relevant legal requirements. You are specifically responsible for ensuring that:
- You comply with safe systems of work in operation within your work area.
- You work co-operatively with other staff who have responsibility for health and safety requirements.
- You report any health and safety concerns to your manager or other responsible member of staff as soon as these are identified.
- You attend training as appropriate to your role (see the relevant health and safety training grid for requirements).
- You may be required to undertake duties as a first aider (for which a separate allowance is paid).

In your role as a line manager, you are responsible on direction and on behalf of the relevant member of Vice Chancellor's Executive Group (VCEG) for supporting the discharge of their duty as a member of the senior management team:

- To monitor effective safety implementation.
- To identify health and safety needs and requirements.
- For the care of all those affected by your acts or omissions, so far as is reasonably practicable

You have a responsibility to ensure a safe and healthy environment in line with legislation for staff, students and other users of the areas of the University under your span of control, by ensuring that:

- Falmouth's safety policies and requirements are implemented and that resources are available to the staff under your control to ensure statutory compliance.
- Risk assessments are carried out for relevant activities (e.g. fieldwork, performances, exhibitions etc) undertaken by staff and students within your area, and that any resulting actions are taken and that safe working practices are followed.
- Correct and timely communication of safety issues, both to your superiors and the staff that work for you as relevant to your areas of responsibility.
- You work within a framework of effective governance, ensuring compliance with relevant regulations/legislation/policies and procedures.
- Ensuring that staff within your area fulfill their responsibilities under the University's Health and Safety Policy, including any responsibilities as members of University Committees as appropriate .
